
General Data Protection Regulation

The General Data Protection Regulation has introduced wide ranging and significant changes to UK data protection legislation.

The BMA's main GDPR guidance is here

Due to the complex nature of the new regime for data protection laws, the BMA cannot offer comprehensive legal advice on GDPR. However its guidance should help practices navigate the legislation and point them in the right direction for guidance on the questions that may arise. The BMA guidance will be updated regularly as new guidance is published so please check back regularly.

Confidentiality & Data Security Policy for Members

Data Retention Policy

Management of Data Breach

Right of Access to Data Held Policy

Subject Access Requests

In the event a practice receives a subject access request that would entail a significant and a substantial volume of work that was considered by the practice to be complex and excessive, the practice should contact YORLMC for further assistance.

In addition to the above information, practices may also find the following links of interest:

FAQs on GDPR - produced by LMC Law, this page will be updated regularly so it will be important to check back for further information.

Data sharing agreement checklist- produced by LMC Law, practices are reminded that they will need to have data sharing agreements in place where they are passing any type of personal data including special category data to other organisations or individuals to process.

NHS Digital

Information Commissioner's Office

November 2018